Description:

The Corsair MM Anti-Fray Cloth Gaming Mouse Pad 2XL (Part Number CH-941D070-WW) combines durability with high-performance tracking. Its reinforced stitching prevents fraying at the edges, extending the lifespan of the product while maintaining a sleek aesthetic. Ideal for competitive gaming setups or productivity workstations, this mouse pad delivers smooth gliding and precise control without compromising on stability.

Features:

Performance and Surface Design

The finely woven cloth surface is crafted to ensure excellent tracking accuracy across a wide variety of optical and laser gaming mice. Whether you are engaging in fast-paced action titles or precision strategy games, the balanced glide offers the responsiveness needed for confident gameplay. The material allows sensors to perform at their peak while providing a comfortable surface for extended use.

Construction and Stability

Durability is a core component of this design, with anti-fray stitched edges protecting against everyday wear and tear. This reinforced construction prevents peeling or fraying after long periods of heavy usage. Additionally, the high-quality natural rubber base provides a secure grip on your desk surface, reducing unwanted movement and ensuring consistent accuracy throughout every session.

Dimensions and Versatility

Measuring 930mm by 400mm with a slim 2mm profile, this extra-large pad offers ample room for both a keyboard and mouse without restricting movement. It is perfectly suited for gaming desks, streaming setups, or productivity workstations where space management is crucial. The black finish complements any desk aesthetic while the robust build ensures long-term
