Overview Summary

Alcatroz Vendaval G2 RGB Notebook Cooler

The Alcatroz Vendaval G2 RGB is a dual-fan USB powered laptop cooler designed to boost airflow and maintain optimal thermal performance under load. Its sleek design with adjustable tilt, built-in RGB lighting and full metal mesh top make it ideal for users who demand both cooling efficiency and style.

This cooler helps reduce internal temperatures during gaming, video editing, or extended productivity sessions. The RGB lighting offers customizable visual appeal, while the ergonomic tilt improves comfort and airflow alignment. The Vendaval G2 RGB is built for durability and consistent performance.

Performance tier:Mid to high performance cooling pad

Uses:Laptop gaming, video editing, software development, general productivity

Description

The Alcatroz Vendaval G2 RGB is crafted to deliver superior cooling performance for modern laptops. Its dual 125 mm fans push air effectively through the bottom chassis and into the laptop vents, reducing internal operating temperatures during high demand use. The full metal mesh top allows heat to escape more freely while reinforcing structural integrity.

RGB lighting adds a dynamic visual element, with selectable modes to match gaming rigs or professional setups. The cooler supports adjustable tilt, lifting your laptop at ergonomic angles to ease wrist strain and support more natural typing. Because it is USB powered with a pass-through port, you do not lose connectivity for peripherals.

Its compact and lightweight form ensures portability, making it suitable for home, office or travel use. Whether you're gaming, rendering, coding or just browsing, the Vendaval G2 RGB offers reliable thermal support and style.
